CCC Conflict Minerals Policy Statement

At Computer Components Corp (“CCC”), we recognize the responsibility to support our customers’ efforts to comply with the conflict minerals rules promulgated under Section 1502 of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (the “Dodd-Frank Act”), which require public companies to annually disclose information to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC Rule”) about their use of certain minerals originating from the “Conflict Region.”ⁱ

Although CCC is not directly subject to the SEC Rule, as it is not a reporting company, it supports the Dodd-Frank Act and the related SEC Rule that promote transparency and awareness regarding the use of “Conflict Minerals.”ⁱⁱ

CCC does not directly purchase any Conflict Minerals from any source and does not knowingly procure any product containing Conflict Minerals from the Conflict Region. To the extent that CCC’ value-added offering may include products that contain Conflict Minerals, CCC is committed to working with its supply chain in order to identify ways to increase transparency regarding the origin and traceability of minerals contained in any products. CCC has also joined the Conflict-Free Sourcing Initiative, which provides country of origin information associated with facilities that are validated through the Conflict-Free Smelter Program.

CCC will encourage its suppliers to adopt similar policies and practices with respect to Conflict Minerals and to drive those efforts throughout their supply chain to ensure that such metals are being sourced only from (1) mines and smelters outside the Conflict Region, or (2) mines and smelters within the Conflict Region which have been certified by an independent third party as “conflict free.”
